The public might have done better than this. It is not known that any of the great outside of three or four hundred philosophers ever asked him to get into school—to keep his head in the gash—to calm down his too ready nose. The newspaper men might have succeeded. I had heard only that they had backed up by outsiders. It doesn't hurt a bit of good to put on the nose of him of Heaven and then let him walk out among the young men who have collected to make an assault on him and give him a wholesale insulting. I have tried to face this thing, and I feel made a better road through life and kinds words and square dealing.

He has no live nose. He has no nose. We all ought to feel ashamed! For five years he slept in barns, in boxes the wharf—anywhere there were night owls.

him money to secure better lodgings, what else could the boy do? A year he got the privilege of sleeping on the floor of a barn, but had to pay for the money in a lively salary, and for the money to the barn to pay for it. His were made up of crackers and cheese, and he never had a piece of bread. His clothing was handed out by some aid or picked up in the alleys.

That's the way Wicked Jack lived, yet our churches are sending money home over the seas to build churches to the heathens in Africa, while Jack Newbery, has been allowed to come up the scale and make a fortune out of his wickedness—knowing nothing of Heaven. Those who knew the boy best did not believe that anything could touch the heart of a heart, and he was a hard man. He entered and left the barn as the pigs. They knew Jack to be wicked, but also knew that he was honest. The owners of the manure, and the old leys, and groans, as of some one in pain, but could not be located or traced. The evening the next day, however, the man was seen something suspicious in Jamaica as he skulked into the barn and climbed to the hay-loft. One of the men on duty saw him and called out. The boy had his home in an old gon-bou under the eaves of the roof. The man was finally near enough to see that it was indeed the same man. There was Jack's voice, and pretty Jack's voice was heard reading. Grow down on the hay, the listener caught

"Oh, remember not against us for iniquities, let Thy tender mercies appease us, for we are brought very low."

Giving a little lesser—looking over his shoulder at the man in the hay. "Wicked," leaning back to let the last of daylight filter through between the boards on to the short-stem page of a book. "I am not a man, I am a boy—to himself! No—to an old man

It was strange, but stranger still that he learned that Wicked Jack had been wandering through the streets, ill, hungry, no home, no money and had taken him and cared for him for weeks! It was a miracle, a miracle that he had been so kind and so considerate and to get delicacies for his patient, sometimes feeding himself, and not a man around him or a boy on the street had been a witness to his secret!

They lifted the old man down and took him to the hospital. He would have died but for that boy's kindness. When they found out that the old man was a new path soon. His name has been abbreviated. It was Wicked Jack. Can you call him that now? Isn't he a good fellow? You could tell the story of the king—a king himself!—Detroit Free Press to say words. If any one's manners or pleasures, remember your own. People are not made to suffer; they are made to enjoy you find them when cannot alter them. Even a dinner which is swallowed, cannot be so enjoyed as if it were continually relished. The conduct of this one, and the spirit of the other, the dress of the other and the opinions of both are the sun. If you are pleased with any one, no one will be pleased with you. And if it is known you are hard to suit, few will take pains to suit you.

After all that can be said of the advantages of being over another, there is still a wonderful equality in human fortunes. If the heiress has beauty for her dowry, she must have beauty for her penances; how beautiful she has credit; if boasts of his income, the other can boast of his influence. No one is so miserable as those who are

and the one so mighty but that he was another's aid. There is no fortune so great but that it may be reversed. There is no splendor so high that it may not be overthrown, and that which rises in splendor may fall in gloom.

HOW TO RAISE THE CASH.—The Rev. E. B. Eastburn, a negro preacher in Charleston, S. C., adopted a novel and effective way of raising money to bury a dead pauper. He said, "I shall cover the dead with a five dollar bill on his pauper's head," he said. "Who'll cover that?" he asked. "I will," said a big, burly brother walked up and put down a bill of denomination. The clergyman then spread out a two dollar bill and repeated the question, "Who'll cover that?" somebody replied, "I will." The next time the amounts until, displaying cents, he shouted, "Now for the Sun school children; which of the lambs will cover that?"

Town and Vicinity.

COVER OF REVISION.—This body will resume business to-night.

THE MARKET.—Mr. George Levens, the new lessee of the market, entered into possession this morning.

ARRIVALS.—The steamship Peruvian arrived at Father Point last night at 8, and the steamship Canada at 8:40 p.m.

APPLICANTS TO PARLIAMENT.—The last petition contains an application for the correction of the By-law of Quins and Oswego Navigation Company.

LETTER.—Rev. W. H. Walker, who has just returned from England, will lecture on the work of Moody and Sankey, to-night at 8 o'clock in the Baptist Church.

MEDICAL ELECTION.—The election of a member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons for the Quins and Oswego District will take place on Tuesday next.
Two local gentlemen are in the field as candidates.

STREET PREACHING.—A street preacher held forth to a small audience on the corner of Front and Bridge Streets last night.
The gentleman who preached was a pleasing and eloquent speaker, and had an attentive audience.

SETTLEMENT.—The arbitration between
Mr. Form and the Corporation, which was referred to Mr. Horsey, of Kingston, as arbitrator, has been settled. Mr. Form claimed $4,500 and was awarded $785, paying his own costs. The town offered $486.

NO QUORUM.—The Council did not meet
last night, the number of members present being insufficient to form a quorum. The meeting was postponed to 10 minutes after o'clock. This is, if we remember aright,
the first occurrence of the kind this year.
The Councils having generally been prompt in their attendance.

TOOL.—The great comedian will make his first appearance here this evening. We anticipate for him a crowded house, and ample satisfaction to those of his auditors
who do not place their expectations too high for human ability to reach. The pieces to be presented to-night are amongst the best in Mr. Tool's repertoire, namely
"The Waverers," "Off the Stage," and "Ici on Parle Français." Mr. Tool will be supported by a powerful company.

ANXIETY.—The school boys were very anxious that the schools should be closed,
in order that they might obtain a long holiday, and numbers of them last night waited around the streets to ascertain the result of the discussion on the matter in the Board of Education. Disquiet and dissatisfaction are words which very faintly express the feelings of the boys when they learned that the schools now open are to remain so, and that those now closed may be re-opened next week.

A CURIOUS CONSIGNMENT.—The Oswego
Palladium says: "Among the latest imports passing through this port is that of 250 cases of Lily Bells, which the steamer
Kincardine took on yesterday for Canada.
The bells were in cases similar to tea chests and came from Tso Choo, China, via Pacific steamship line and Union Pacific Railroad. The bells will be repainted on the case of the Islands of the bay of Quins by Capt.
Read, of the steamer, who is determined that the bay shall not be excelled in beauty by any body of water on this continent." The story reads well, and the lilies are here.

CHALLENGE.—The following merchants and clerks of the town, to play a friendly game
of cricket on the Belleville ground.
Friday afternoon, the 4th inst.: W. H.
Garratt, J. Borradaile, H. Maitland, J.
Templeton, R. Fuller, S. A. Hyman, R.
Menzies, J. Mallard, J. Walker, J. Devlin, and C. Gillen. They reserve the right to replace merchants and clerks of the town for any of the above who may be prevented from playing through any cause, be prevented from playing.

BAKER AND FARRAR.—These celebrated comedians, supported by Mr. Herndon's favorite company, will commence a season of three nights in the Metropolitan Hall on Thursday evening. They have been immensely successful in Toronto and Ottawa,
and they are almost certain to be so here.
The Waterloo Dispatch, says of them:—
"The comedy drama of 'Chris and Lena' is irresistible and inimitable. Baker and Farrar are the emperors of character actors. Their Dutch songs and dances took the audience by storm, but 'Maiden
in Chains' is the crowning feature of the day.
It is absolutely beyond criticism; no perfect is it in rendition that the audience
screamed with delight at the new phase of the character." Reserved seats can be had in advance, without extra charge, at Koller & Lazer's. The old standard pieces are maintained, namely: 'Admission', 25 cts; reserved seats, 50 cts.

POSTER.—The funeral of the late James Quinn, which was to have taken place
at 2 o'clock this afternoon has been postponed until 6 o'clock this evening, on account of the non-arrival of Mr. Quinn's father, who was expected to reach here this morning from Quebec. A delegation of brethren from Oswego, who came to attend the funeral, arrived this morning on a steam barge Elizabetta. The following are their names:—Thos. Crawford, Chief Engineer; P. J. Dowd, DeWolf No. 7; C. B.
Chase, F. Fairlie, W. H. Young, F. Quinn,
Jas. Asch; C. H. Bryan, J. F. Redfield,
Jas. Swift, A. Sweeney, A. Cummings, 2nd
Asst.; Geo. W. Goble, E. Robinson, G.
H. Hall, J. W. Goble, Eagle Hook and Laird.

THE "DAUNTLESS".—The trial trip yesterday afternoon was highly successful, the yacht moving along very fast under her new canvas, although the breeze was too light to test her sailing qualities fully.
Only mainmast and jib were hoisted, the other sails not being ready. A topmast 24ft. 3in.
will be sent up, and a large gaff topmast
and balloon jib, will be ready in a short time.
With these additions, it is safe to predict that the Dauntless will be very largely interesting. There is some talk of the Dauntless being sent up to take part in the international regatta on Lake St. Clair, on the 25th of the present month. If this prove to be so, the Dauntless will have a fair chance of measuring her speed against the best yachts on the lakes, both Canadian and from the United States.

LOCAL LAW CASES.—The following local cases were before the Courts in Toronto on the 31st ult.:

CHAMBERS v. UNDER.—Mr. Wallbridge,
Q.C., moved absolute notice to set aside verdict in an ejectment case for defendant,
and for a new trial. Mr. T. Mox, Q.C., opposed case. Reserved.

(Bill) moved absolute summons to strike out place. Reserved.

FATAL FIRE.—A telegram from Maxwell, Ont., May 31st, says: "A fire broke out on Saturday night in the house of Mr.
Van Meer, four miles from this village.
Said to relate, three of the children were burnt to death. The fire is supposed to have originated from some wood which was placed under the stove to dry."

MURDER.—A remarkable aerial phenomenon was observed at Niagara on the 31st.
The Toronto house was plainly visible, with the buildings in Toronto and passengers
on the Rocky Mount, from the other shore, saw the Queen's Hotel and Fort Niagara at Niagara, from the eastern part of Toronto harbour.

STRANGERS IN THE GALLERY.—In the House of Commons on the 31st of May,
the House resumed the consideration of the question of privilege. The motion offered by the Marquis of Hartington on May 4 was taken up. It was to the effect that the House should not entertain any complaint, with respect to the publication of its proceedings, except in cases of wilful misrepresentation, or when publication is prohibited, and that strangers shall not be obliged to withdraw unless they are dis-ordered, or by special direction of the House.
Mr. Disraeli then moved that if attention is called by any member to the presence of strangers, the House shall decide by a division whether they withdraw; furthermore that the Speaker be empowered to order
their withdrawal whenever he thinks fit.
Adopted.

Quite a deluge of rainfalls visited Queensland—the heaviest rainfall ever known in the colony. Twenty three inches of rain fell in 24 hours, causing floods everywhere.
Communication and business were almost totally suspended. The railway was stopped, the telegraph line was under water.
Great damage was done to buildings in Brisbane, where the water reached to the top of the walls. At Gympie, on the 4th of March, the water was 29 feet above ordinary levels in the Mary. The water was over the roof of the Varieties Theatre and 27 houses, of which six collapsed and fell.

KAT.—There are many people in this land of abundance starving to death; and yet nevertheless a very large number of them are merchant princes with tens of thousands of pounds of income; farmers with hundreds of thousands of acres of land, and hundreds of thousands of sheep, and yet they are starving to death. The reason of their starving is not the time to eat too much and accumulate too much, but in furnishing it to others, to partake of it themselves.—Scotch.

Within a few days the Baptists of Ontario have lost by death four ministers—the Rev. J. Bates St. George; the Rev. J. G.
Guthrie; Rev. J. O'Leary; and Rev. J. C.
Mukish, Mount Forest. The three former were all of the same age, and died at a ripe age. The last was a young man of great promise.

of the Republics of the United States. The place last evening at the Academy of Music, and a large audience was present. Will Calhoun presided.

A Port-Royal dispatch says heavy fire has again broken out in the mountains in Sullivan and Delaware counties, and are doing much damage. The sky in that direction has been illuminated for several nights. The village of Bethel in Sullivan county was surrounded two times, and was saved after a fight with the Indians for a day and night by the populace.

Troy Lumber Market.

TROY, 27th.—During the past week there have been arrivals of lumber and spruce by the Champlain canal, and of pine by the Oswego. Canada lumber is coming forward freely, and the market will soon be supplied with all the various kinds. There is not at any shipping point a very large stock of lumber, and all that is now made will probably find ready sale.

During the present week, buyers were waiting for a little accumulation of stock before making their purchases. The present stock consists of large quantities of lumber, and of standing timber and of new mills, both at the west and in Pennsylvania, will tend to keep up somewhat the price of lumber. Prices and freight unchanged.—Troy Times.

Daily Intelligencer.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 2, 1875.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Muldoon, of the Queen

Insurance Company, was in town to-day.

Dr. O'Reilly, of Toronto, was in town yesterday.

In Town.—Messrs. J. A. Johnson, of the

Kingston News, and W. H. Fuller, M. A.

of the Whig, are in town, and paid on a visit to-day.

BANK BALL.—A meeting of those favorable to the formation of a Bank Ball Club

is to be held in room No. 9, Dufresne House,

at 7 o'clock to-morrow evening.

PARKER.—Mr. E. G. Henderson, (son of the Town Solicitor) who is in London,

England, has passed his final examination

and been admitted as a Member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

A WORD OF CAUTION.—Green paper

should not be laid carelessly about the yard, when pulled from the walls of a house.

A western farmer attributes the death of four valuable cows to the fact that scraps

of this material were chewed by the animals

having contained poisonous matter.

DISTROYED FRUIT TREES.—It appears that there is a sort of grub at work at present in orchards which is very successful in destroying trees. It bores into the fruit, and, when making a hole about a quarter of an inch diameter. Something should be put about the root to destroy it. Gooseberry bushes

are also suffering from destructive insects.

WOMAN'S TEMPERANCE ASSOCIATION.—We

understand that a few ladies met last week

and agreed to form a "Woman's Christian Temperance Association." Last Sabbath

there was an appeal made, through the various pulpits of the town, urging all ladies

interested in the cause of temperance to meet in the Town Hall on Thursday next at four o'clock, for the purpose of adopting a constitution

and electing officers.

TEARING DOWN POSTERS.—In this, as in other places, the tearing down and defacement of posters is a serious nuisance. If the boys who thus mischievously destroy the

advertisements of others were made to suffer in proportion to the damage they do, they might stop their hands. The police will do well to pay attention to this class of offenders, as an example or two would do more to stop the practice than any amount of persuasion.

THE LATE JAMES QUINN.—The Oswego

Palladium has the following kindly reference to the late James Quinn:—"The firmness of this city, especially those of DeWolf

Hose, have every reason to hold the memory of James Quinn in fond remembrance

for he was a friend in every sense of the word. His whole-hearted geniality, genuine hospitality and well directed efforts to make life pleasant for his friends, gathered

about him in large circle of not only Belleville, but this city as well. For many years he was in the lumber office of E. W. Rath-bun & Co. in this city, during which time

he was the companion of the members of DeWolf House."

METROPOLITAN HALL.—Measured by an artistic standard, the performance of Mr.

Toole last night was a complete success;

but the audience was not by any means so numerous as we should have been pleased to see. No doubt the funeral which took place had a bad effect upon the attendance,

and it may be that theatre-goers have had a surfeit of amusement of late, but the past four or five weeks having been very prolific of dramatic entertainments. The audience was, however, enthusiastic in its applause of the famous comedian. From his first entrance on the stage, as Spring in The Weavers, until his exit, his every movement was noted by an appreciative audience, and his every "point" seen and applauded. In some parts of the drama

"Off the Line," his laughter was a little out of place, but the humor and the pathetic were so nicely blended that it required a very nice discrimination to determine which was the predominant sentiment. In a word, Mr. Toole was all, and more than all that was anticipated, and those who fail to see him this evening will regret their lost opportunity. The support given to him by able, Miss Johnston and Mr. Herbert being very deserved performers. The members of Mr. Toole's company are also deserving of warm praise,

every performer having shown to advantage. Mr. Melton, who had a good character in "The Weavers," fairly shared the applause with the star. Prices have been reduced for to-night's performance to a more popular scale, and the probability therefore is that a great improvement will take place in the attendance.

DEATH OF A BISHOP.—An Armenian

bishop and a Turkish scribe, between whom there was enmity, met at dinner at the house of a common friend and accompanied. The scribe put on the light, and when the light was brought the bishop was dead. They buried him, and are now inquiring whether he was murdered.

Police Court.

(Before A. DUMAS, Esq., P. M.)

DRUNK.

James McDonald was charged with being drunk on the street last night. The prisoner pleaded hard for liberty avowing that he had drunk nothing but John Ball Bitters, and could not possibly see how it should have had such an effect upon him. Discharged.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.

Patrick Murphy was his first bow to the Court charged with being above offend-

and in the custom in such cases, was dismissed.

AMATEUR.

Wm. H. Ellis was charged by his wife with assaulting her. Laid over until Saturday.

No. 7, in the 2nd con.; James Walker in Div'n

Div'n No. 8, in the 2nd con.

Geo. Gilbert was appointed Poundkeeper

and Fence Viewer in place of A. L. Crozier

for the village of Frankfort.

Enery Finkle was allowed to do his Statute

labor between his place and the 40-foot road

Mr. Wood presented the petition of Robert

Bird and others, regarding an alteration in road. Laid over until next meeting.

The Assessment Roll was accepted, and the Assessors, J. W. M. Smith, J. W. Wilson

and son, placed on the pay-roll for $50 each.

Several petitions and applications laid

over for last meeting, were further laid over.

To the Editor of the INTELLIGENCER.

MR. EDITOR.—From somebody in the shape

probably of a man, the public have been instructed through your columns of the absurdity

of publishing the names of the assessors in this paper. Now, sir, I am not inclined to answer his nonsense, only to say that I am surprised that a man of your intelligence should give it space

for his valuable staff, knowing, as you well

do, that in nearly all enlightened parts of the world it is really compulsory upon poor and rich to be vaccinated. I am surprised, too,

Mr. Editor, that you would allow any man to publish, through your columns, what you should have known to be an absurdity.

He says there was only one case of it, and that was out of town two miles; we had one case in town, and by the measures we instituted we had no more, but there were several

a short distance out of town.

As to James Dordale, he is a graduate of

McGill University, Montreal, as well as the chief doctor and he is expected to go to Belleville, not like our "Taxpayer," with nothing but a license.

P. S.—If I hear anything more from "Taxpayer," touching his disappointment in not being appointed one of the Public Vaccina-tors, I will be obliged to deal with him

roughly. P. V. DORLAND.

Belleville, June 2, 1875.

Grant and the Third Term.

An effort has been made for a long time to induce General Grant to pass his opinion

on the third term question, to which his opponents have alleged, and apparently with success, that he is a favorer of it. At last he has spoken, in a letter addressed to General White, President of the recent Pennsylvania Republican State Convention.

After reviewing the circumstances under which he became President and accepted

of the second term of office, he says regarding the third term:—

"I do not want it any more than I did

the first; I would not write after a word

to change the will of the people in expressing and having their choice. The question of the number of terms allowed to any one Executive can only come up fairly in the shape of a proposition to amend the constitution, a change to which

all political parties can participate,

fixing the length of time or number of terms

for which any one shall be eligible for the office of President. Until such an amendment is adopted the people cannot be restricted in their choice by resolution farther than they are now restricted as to age, &c. It may happen in the future history of the country that to change an executive because he has been eight years in office would be unfortunate, if not disastrous. The idea that any man could elect himself President, or even re-nominate himself, is a proposition so absurd, so contrary to the intelligence and patriotism of the people to suppose such a thing possible.

Any man who would follow the lead of any man, followed by the New England station, followed by the New York station, &c.

to S. E. winds, stationary or higher temperature and increasing clouds, with occasional light rain in the former section.

PARIS, June 2.—The Duke of Arundell

Piquier was yesterday re-elected President of the National Assembly. Vice-Presidents

and members were also re-elected.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 2.—The Norwegian

bark Holmstrand, Capt. Ross, from Holmestrand, Norway, arrived last night. She left with a full cargo, and is expected to

is, in regard to the recent failures, that the

have been and probably were the salvation

About the Hair.

Men become bald? Why? Because they wear close hats and caps. Women are never bald. Sometimes, from long continued head-ache, hair is lost in the scalp, and in some cases women may have hair come out from the scalp, but with all these exceptions, you never see a woman with a bare, shiny, bald head. And you never see a man lose his hair below where his last comb has been. It will take it off as clean as you can have it done exactly to the line. No more hair below, and it has been bald fifty years. This common black hair, as imperious as short iron, retains the heat and perspiration. The little hair glands, which form the same relation to the hair, that the sweat glands do to the skin, are situated in the hair, and when the hair is cut, it falls out and baldness ensues. A fair cap we have known to produce complete baldness in a single winter. A man with a good head of hair needs very little protection where the hair grows. Women, who live much within doors, and who are more susceptible to the cold, oil their hair and plaster it down hard and flat upon their skulls so as to destroy the influence of the power, as a non-conductor, have worn for years postage stamps of bonnets stuck on the back of their skulls, and then going out of furnace heated parlors, have ridden for hours in the cold temperature without taking cold and without complaint.

Men with their greater vigor and habits of outdoor life, and with their hair not plastered, but thrown up loose and light, do not do this. They go to the north pole, so far as that part of their person is concerned, without any artificial covering. And yet we see men with immensely thick fur caps, and do not step into a chilly atmosphere a moment but take cold. It is a silly, weak, and really a serious error. The Creator knew what he was about when he created a man's hair. It has a very important function in protecting the brain. Baldness is a serious misfortune. It will never occur in a man who will wear a common black hair cap, but who will wear five hundred bolts pushed through the top that there shall be more holes than hair. This is the only way the latter will do well, but for you when you purchase your hat. If the cap is combed back the wrong way, and if after the holes are made, it is combed the right way, no one will observe the peculiarities. The hat will wear quite as long as the latter say considerably longer—because it is dry instead of moist.

A Missionary at Sea.

We were in the gulf stream, knocking about in a pretty rough sea. The effect on a missionary stomach was the same as that upon the stomach of all handmen. I remember one morning when the decks were in a very disagreeable condition in consequence. After repeatedly cleaning them the patience of old Pease, the first mate was exhausted. He accordingly wrote with a piece of chalk on the companionway—“Passengers feeling seasick will please go to leeward.”

Soon Brother Bradley emerged from the cabin with a rising breakfast. The notice caught his eye, but not understanding its significance he staggered to the companionway and then gave caution for another application of the awabon the decks. This time, he looked much more in the face of Mr. Pease, who was regarding him with a mingled expression of pity and contempt. “I noticed the direction,” Bradley observed, “but I am not aware that I have heard the dition,” “but I am not aware that I have heard the dition.”

“Why, it means the lee side of the vessel, of course,” answered the second mate. “And which is the lee side?” “Which is the lee side? Well, it's to the right of the weather side.” “And what is the weather side?” “The weather side! Sometimes it's the starboard and sometimes it's the larboard (for the term larboard was then in use). It's the starboard, now we are on this tack.”

“Really, said brother Bradley, ‘you must excuse me. I don't understand these various terms. What's starboard? What's larboard? What's tack?’”

Placing his arms akimbo, while the tattering missionary studied himself for a moment, Pease regarded him, for a moment as an object beneath the pity or contempt that he had at first bestowed upon him, and then, with expulsive earnestness, he exclaimed—

“Now ain't you a pretty fellow for a missionary! Going to convert the heathen, and don't know two sides of a ship twenty-five feet apart! You'd better go home the first week we speak, and make two or three coasting voyages, and then try it again; you'll learn something.”

In the early summer of 1874, the eminent Russian Scientist, Dr. Kopyev, of the St. Petersburg Physical Observatory, predicted that 1875 would be a phenomenally cold year. He arrived at this conclusion by a series of most comprehensive observations taken in different portions of the globe, and by a careful examination of the sun's surface upon our thermal condition. So far the prediction has been verified. People who are preparing for summer trips will bear this in mind, and perhaps it will be well if they should take with them their fur and wraps. When a scientific man makes a prediction now-a-days, it will not do to ignore the matter.

The talent of success is nothing more than doing what you can do, without the thought of fame—Longfellow.

PERUVIAN SYRUP.—This valuable medicine has been recently making its way into public favor by the numerous remarkable cures it has effected. Its singular efficacy is owing to the presence of iron which in this preparation remains unchanged, and is the only form in which this vital element of healthy blood can be supplied.

Over exertion, either of body or mind, produces debility and disease. The usual remedy is to take some stimulant, the effect of which is the same as giving a tired horse a whip instead of rest. The true way is to fortify the system with a permanent tonic, like the Peruvian Syrup, (a preparation of Iron) which gives strength and vigor to the whole system.

CHANGES IN THE CABINET.

The Grit papers inform us that the Hon. Joseph Cauchon has been offered a seat in the Cabinet with the Postmaster-General's Portfolio, which, if true, will necessitate the retirement of the Hon. Mr. Fournier, who no doubt seeks a resting place in the Supreme Court. Joseph Cauchon, a close league of Alex. Mackenzie, and a co-worker in the Ontario Grit ranks, will be a subject for reflection. Whether to admit the cool efficiency of Mr. Cauchon in public life, self upon those who despise him, or to lament the weakness of a party who allows itself to be thus controlled by one who has received at its hands more abuse and contemptuous treatment than any other public man in Canada, we know not. It has been frequently remarked that the member for Quebec would demand and receive his price, or rat; hence we are not surprised at the announcement that he is to be taken into the Cabinet. Still we should hope that the "party of purity" has not yet sunk so low as to be obliged to succumb to the imperious demands of the ex-Speaker of the Senate. Why should Mr. Cauchon be offered a seat in the Cabinet, when he is now acting with the Bough and Grit party? He must be jealous of Mr. Langevin, and demanded a continued lease in the Speaker's Chair in the Senate; a demand which was not only refused by the late Government, and the consequence was a desertion to his former enemies whom he now worships; that is, if he give him a portfolio that has attached to it $70,000 a year.

While those changes are mooted in the Dominion Cabinet, we have daily rumors of certain Ontario Ministers wishing to seek repose by retiring from the uncertain seats which they now occupy to more safe and less troublesome ones on the Bench. The Supreme Court offers a more certain rest to the weary Premier of Ontario, and the less tiresome Crooks. Both these politicians, it is said, are pushing their claims to the Ontario Bench. Mr. Cauchon is already tired of the rough and tumble life, and again desires a seat on the Bench, where he can "continue to take an interest" in public affairs which every intelligent citizen ought to take. At least we have a right to suppose that the Hon. Mr. Cauchon is tired of the rough and tumble life, and again desires a seat on the Bench, where he can "continue to take an interest" in public affairs which every intelligent citizen ought to take. At least we have a right to suppose that the Hon. Mr. Cauchon is tired of the rough and tumble life, and again desires a seat on the Bench, where he can "continue to take an interest" in public affairs which every intelligent citizen ought to take.

Next on the list is the Treasurer, Mr. Crooks, who has been drawing his salary out of the funds of the Province ever since the last general election, now nearly six months past, without having secured the confidence of the people in any constituency in Ontario. Many of our readers will remember the districts that were hurled at the head of Sir John A. Macdonald for permitting Mr. Jos. Morrison to retain his office of Solicitor General without having secured a seat in Parliament. We have seen the course pursued now. Not a whisper do we hear from the leading Grit paper which for months made Mr. Morrison's case a daily text from which to lecture the people upon the flagrant violation of Responsible Government which was being practiced by John A. Macdonald. This is Mr. Blake's theory of political honesty, as enunciated in his nomination speech in South Bruce a few days ago, "advocate what you please while in opposition, but gulp it down when in office."

Last upon the list is that Mr. McKellar seeks repose by appointment to the vacant shrievalty in Wentworth. Well, we don't know why he should not be provided for as well as the lawyers, but we do know that his "fall ploughing" could then be attended to, and he would have more time to settle up his Elgin Negro Manumission. They are of long standing, yet to honorable men they never outlast. Such a change as the latter would not injure the status of the Ontario Cabinet. Their time of departure is at hand, and the sooner they prepare for a rainy day the less will they regret when thrown upon the cold world with little chances of future comfort upon dank lounges or maroon canoes come.

PUBLIC VACCINATION.

When the Town Council passed a By-law a short time since appointing public vaccinators, it was no doubt intended that these gentlemen should perform the duty as well as the lawyers, but we do know that his "fall ploughing" could then be attended to, and he would have more time to settle up his Elgin Negro Manumission. They are of long standing, yet to honorable men they never outlast. Such a change as the latter would not injure the status of the Ontario Cabinet. Board of Education.

TUESDAY, JUNE 8.
The Board met at 8 o'clock.
PRESENT.—Messrs. Sawyer (Chairman), Johnson, Newbery, Macdonald, McInnis, Young, Tannant, Yeomans, McGinnis, Northcott, Docter, Bell, Glas, Wensley, Backus, and Shepard.
The minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

From Miss Rankin, resigning her situation as Assistant Teacher in No. 3 School.

Mr. Glas presented the report of the Finance Committee, recommending the payment of salaries and accounts, $2,515 18; and that the salary of Messrs. Macdonald, to $500 per annum, and of the Secretary-Treasurer to $250.

Mr. Shepard asked whether it was intended that any action should be taken on the matter of Mr. Irwin's application.

Mr. Glas replied that owing to there not having been a quorum the matter had been laid over, and also the accounts for taking school for the year will be fixed.

Mr. A. Diamond moved that the report be amended by increasing the salary of the Secretary-Treasurer to $300, which he considered a modest sum for the large amount of work performed.

The motion was not pressed, it being understood that the matter should be taken up at the next meeting, when the salaries for the year will be fixed.

The report was then adopted.

In reference to the salaries of the enumerators.

Mr. Glas said that he had nothing to show that work had been done. The matter was still in the hands of the Committee.

Prof. Bell, in reference to the resignation of Miss Rankin, said he deeply regretted it, as he had been counting on her to be taken into the Cabinet. Still we should hope that the "party of purity" has not yet sunk so low as to be obliged to succumb to the imperious demands of the ex-Speaker of the Senate.

Mr. Cauchon is already tired of the rough and tumble life, and again desires a seat on the Bench, where he can "continue to take an interest" in public affairs which every intelligent citizen ought to take.

ceed when the High School pupils were out at intermission. As to the pupils who had been vaccinated, he had occasion to observe them every day, and he saw them playing together daily.

Mr. Newbery said there had been no trouble, between the pupils of the two schools. He should, if teaching, consider it a piece of impertinence for the Board to interfere with the hour of intermission.

Mr. Shepard thought the Board should not interfere in this matter, at least at such an early date dictating at what hour classes should be held.

Rev. Mr. Burke considered that they should not interfere in this matter, rather leaving the success or failure of the school to rest upon the teachers.

Mr. Wills held that the teachers could arrange to have the intermissions at the same time.

Mr. Johnson re-asserted that the pupils of the High and Public Schools play together during hours when Mr. Lawson was not there at all.

Prof. Bell said he was not in the habit of saying what he could not substantiate.

Prof. Bell said the discussion had turned too much upon likes and dislikes. Without holding the same exalted ideas of the enunciation of a teacher as Mr. Newbery, he yet thought that where the teachers could not arrange the time-tables to suit, they should allow them to carry out their arrangements. He bore testimony to the good feeling amongst the teachers, who were only rivalry secured to be who should excel in their profession.

The resolution was then put and carried by a vote of 8 to 7.

Mr. Newbery moved, seconded by Mr. Bell, that in accepting the resignation of Miss Rankin as Teacher of School No. 3, the members of this Board have to express their deep regret that she should be compelled, owing to ill health, to tender her resignation, and to express their high appreciation of her, and of the real, diligence and faithfulness with which she has discharged the arduous duties of her position in said school during a continuous service of twelve years; and that the Secretary-Treasurer be authorized to send Miss Rankin a copy of this Resolution, with the Seal of the Board attached thereto.

The resolution was put and carried unanimously.

Prof. Bell reported with regard to No. 2 School, that he had been unable, after his efforts, to learn of any Scarletina in that neighborhood, or amongst the pupils. He had visited all the Schools, and found none in No. 9, two cases in No. 3 district; in No. 4, two of the pupils are all from Scarletina, having taken it after going home from school.

Mr. Shepard moved that No. 2 School be reopened on Thursday, notice to be given through the press to-morrow.

Mr. Diamond said that the attendance at No. 4 was so small that it is not worth while to keep the school open. He contended the wisdom of closing No. 2, and believed that equally beneficial results would follow the closing of the other schools.

Prof. Bell said the Inspector, in view of the public anxiety as to the result of the public examinations he held, but he would examine the schools privately.

Mr. Shepard's motion was then put and carried.

Prof. Bell moved that the public examinations be held for this quarter be dispensed with.—Carried.

Mr. Wills moved that the Public Schools be kept open until the 15th of July.

The Chairman said the law provides for the schools, and if no resolution be passed the schools will of necessity be kept open.

Mr. Newbery moved, in amendment, that the schools be closed on the 1st of July.

Prof. Bell quoted from the law, holding that the Board had no power to close the schools before the time named by law.

Mr. Diamond contended that if they had the power to close No. 2 School, they could extend the duration of the holidays.

The motion was then put and carried by a vote of 8 to 7.

Mr. Diamond moved to rescind the motion passed at the last meeting relating to the Public Schools and School No. 4. He said that the Board had been consulted on the matter, said that the regulation did not work well. Further, he did not approve of interfering too much with the internal economy of the schools.

Prof. Dawson contended that the Board was younger and needed to be out earlier and to stay out longer. Again, the yard was a crowd, and the elder pupils of the high school did not mix with the younger pupils, therefore the regulation did not work satisfactorily.

Mr. Wills said he knew that the resolution had not been carried out well, owing to an antagonism between the Principals of the Schools, Prof. Dawson having shown a disposition to accommodate Mr. Irwin. He did not see why the order of studies should be changed, and the elder pupils of the high school did not mix with the younger pupils, therefore the regulation did not work satisfactorily.

Mr. Johnson said it was impossible for the teachers in the Public School to proceed when the High School pupils were out at intermission. As to the pupils who had been vaccinated, he had occasion to observe them every day, and he saw them playing together daily.

Mr. Newbery said there had been no trouble, between the pupils of the two schools. He should, if teaching, consider it a piece of impertinence for the Board to interfere with the hour of intermission.

Mr. Shepard thought the Board should not interfere in this matter, at least at such an early date dictating at what hour classes should be held.

Rev. Mr. Burke considered that they should not interfere in this matter, rather leaving the success or failure of the school to rest upon the teachers.

Mr. Wills held that the teachers could arrange to have the intermissions at the same time.

Mr. Johnson re-asserted that the pupils of the High and Public Schools play together during hours when Mr. Lawson was not there at all.

Prof. Bell said he was not in the habit of saying what he could not substantiate.

Mr. Shepard thoroughly agreed with Prof. Bell in his remarks as to the conduct of the vaccination, but did not wish the Chairman placed in the position which he would be under this resolution. He moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Glas:

"That all after the words 'Be it resolved' be deleted the original motion and the following substituted therefor: 'That this Board strongly condemn such persons as, by their conduct, have been guilty of neglecting the order of said schools, and at the same time ignoring the authority and infringing the jurisdiction of this Board over said Schools; and that the Chairman be authorized and requested to take such legal proceedings against said persons or some of them, as he may be advised, as may vindicate the authority and assert the jurisdiction of this Board over the High and Public Schools of the Town.'"

Mr. Diamond had wondered how the vaccinators could do their work so cheap, but he heard that they dealt out vaccine in homoeopathic doses, having procured two of the vaccinators had in his office for ten years, and the same on the same man had been one of the first who was vaccinated. (Laughter.) We understand that two of the vaccinators appointed did not act, and he did not wish them to be condemned.

Prof. Bell said his resolution provided for that. Only one of the vaccinators appointed—Dr. Ridley—had acted. Doctor James Dorland does not live in the town, and had not acted. The work had been done by Dr. Ridley and Dr. P. V. Dorland, who, when he would not attend, his pupil, Mr. O'Neil, who had just graduated.

The motion was then put and carried unanimously.

Prof. Wills brought up a report, recommending a new parcel for No. 1 School, and adding two class rooms for No. 2 School, at an expense of $1,000, and the division of No. 3 School into three compartments, at a cost of $200.

The Board adjourned for two weeks.

FIRE.—The dwelling house of a Dutch-

man, named Smith, in the Dutch Settlement, near Trenton, was burned down last

Saturday afternoon. Total loss—no insurance.

The "DAUGHTER."—This fine yacht has returned from Mill Point, where she has been thoroughly overhauled, scraped and painted white. She was to have gone on a trip this afternoon.

BETHOVEN QUINTETT CLUB.—This celebrated organization, assisted by Mrs. H.

E. H. Carter, will give a concert in the Metropolitan Hall this evening. Some of the pieces will be performed in accordance with their merits, the hall will be crowded.

FIRE.—The roof of Mr. Edgar's House

in Trenton caught fire but was extinguished

by a few pails of water well directed. The alarm being given, it brought out the Chemical and Hand Engines in the quickest time ever known, but they were not required.

GOING AT LAST.—We at last have a chance to speed the departure of the brick admission, on part of Front street, which has been taken up yesterday, and is being replaced with a wooden walk. The brick walk was an experiment which it is hoped will not be repeated.

Railway and Steamboat Guide for June is all necessary information for the travelling communities. Published by C. R. Chish-

BETHOVEN QUINTETT CLUB.—The

universal judgment was that no concert

of this kind was ever before held in

THE TRENTON STEAM FIRE ENGINE.—

The new steam fire engine for Trenton is expected about the first week in next month,

when there will be a grand trial to show

the working. When it arrives, the chief engineer will take charge, and will be in the direction of Mr. Weddell, who is chief engineer. Trenton will be well supplied with apparatus—1 Steam, 2 Chemical, and 2 Hand engines. All it wants is a good hook and ladder company.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING.—The Colborne

Express says:—In the face of warnings

which are almost daily recurring, in reference to shooting accidents, it seems strange that people will persist in leaving firearms lying around as they were toys-guns. On Monday last a youngster in this village picked up "the old man's shooter," and playfully told a woman who was working in the house that he would shoot her, at the same time snapping the revolver, the charge

striking her on the arm, but fortunately did no serious injury. There should be a law to punish persons who have loaded

firearms within the reach of children and fools.

BETHOVEN QUINTETT CLUB.—All who delight in a "concert of sweet sounds"

will patronize the Beethoven Quintette

Club, which will appear in the Metropolitan

Hall on Friday evening. Seats can be secured at Lazer's music store.

"HUNTY DUTY."—A house crowded

to the doors greeted the Humpty Dumpty troupe last night. It is sufficient to say of the performance that it was a great success in every respect, all the artists playing their parts in the most creditable manner.

Geo. L. Fox, as the Clown, retained his world-wide reputation by a pantomimic

display which stands alone in point of merit,

his mischievous tricks and oddities keeping the audience in roars of laughter. In Mr.

Clayman, the Pantaloon, we had an able proportion of the part, and in Mr. John

Columbie, being agile, a good dancer

and an excellent pantomimist. Mr. Ravel displayed a high order of talent as Harle-

quin, being nimble, dexterous in his tricks

and excellent in his pantomimic display.

The tricks and transformations were very laughable, the big policeman being an especially laughable feature. In the olio

which formed the second act, some dancing performances were given. Bobby New-combe, in his songs, dances and operatic burlesques was very funny. The parlor singers Messrs. Smith and Kynock created a sensation in their performance on the stage, and their songs were highly applauding and loud and bold were highly praised. The Orin Brothers, gymnasts, gave a performance unique in merit, the chief points in which were supposed to be the

OLLIVER'S BOOK.

A REVIEW OF IT.

LONDON, June 11.—It is estimated that 15,000 persons were present last night at the opening of the hall at Manchester, by Rev. Mr. Spurgeon, for revival meetings. Those who were unable to obtain admittance.

PARIS, June 11.—Mr. Olliver's book in the opening of the Ministry, of which he was head on the breaking out of the Franco-Prussian war, has appeared. It declares that Prussia, by her insults, really declared war. His Ministry cannot be held responsible for entering into a conflict, for the act was unanimously approved of by the Senate and Legislative body. Nor is it responsible for the military organization, which was the work of years before it came into power. Olliver claims for his Ministry that in a few months after its organization, it had calmed the public mind and restored the authority of the Government without employing either corruption or intimidation. He publishes a letter from the Emperor written after the fall of the Ministry, expressing continued confidence. In conclusion, Olliver urges the Bonapartists to let the present Government, maintain peace and respect the constitution, and when an opportunity comes for reviving the constitution, then claim an appeal to the Plebiscite.

OTTAWA TIMBER TRADE.

OTTAWA, June 10.—A letter from the Ottawa saw-mill, which is considerable, stating that the river this season is consequently the falling of water, and that the saw-mill is now in operation. The saw-log drives on the small streams have been stopped, and a great many saw-mills are not selling their logs to the firm, for the same reason, and to say their logs, will not be able to resume operations this fall. The river is falling very rapidly in the Ottawa. Reports from the Upper Ottawa say that the drive is progressing favorably.

TRUCK AND LOADS OF CANADA.—The report for the half year ended 31st March, shows that the available balance, including $2,923 brought forward, is $25,495, from which a dividend of the rate of 4 per cent per annum and a bonus of 1 per cent are recommended, and $4,410 per cent to be added to the reserve fund, making it $17,085. This leaves $2,923 to be carried forward. During the above period the reserve fund had been charged with $7,000 for the realization of securities.—Economist, 22nd ult.

The Marriage Fee.

The late Dr. Houghton was once disputing with a farmer about the cost with which a minister earned money.

"Now," said the farmer, "when you are called on to marry a couple, you never expect a less sum than three dollars, and yet you sometimes get a few dollars—say for a few minutes service."

"Pooh," replied the doctor, "I would agree to give you half my next man's fee for a handful of potatoes."

A few days after the doctor was called to marry a young couple, and he went to the place about four miles from where he lived. When the ceremony was over, the bridegroom said to the worthy minister:

"Well, parson, I suppose I must fork over something for your trouble. What, in your opinion, is a fair fee?"

The best breed, I can tell you, in the county. Shaking his head, he said, "Worth full five dollars, and I suppose a figure I would do for a slice of, eh?"

The doctor took the pig with joy. The job was too good for him, and he said to the farmer, saying:

"Now, friend, here is my fee—how shall we divide it?"

The farmer related the joke so well, that he increased the potatoes to half a dozen bushels.

Of Slouchy and Dirty Young Folks.

No one admires a slouchy, dirty youth. Dirty young folks are the abomination of neat and cleanly ones.

Dirty naps and grubby fingers show their owners to be lazy and careless.

Most dirty youth are poor scholars, for the lay spirit which neglects the body leads to neglect the mind also.

Dirty folks are no trustworthy themselves, nor with the respect of others.

The entrance of a filthy youth into a circle of neat and careful persons, creates a sensation not unlike that of the sudden appearance of a big spider on a tea-table surrounded by a company of girls.

Dirty folks seldom live long. Dirt shortens their lives.

Golly people love neatness and purity, for cleanliness is first cousin to goodness.

The following story of a dirty Scotchman illustrates this point:

A Scotch gentleman noticed one day that one of his workmen was very dirty.

Calling the man to his side, he asked:

"Barnie, my man, how often do you have your shirt washed?"

"Once a month, sir."

"Once a month!" exclaimed the astonished gentleman. "Why, I require three clean shirts a week!"

It was now Barnie's turn to be surprised, and he cried: "Three shirts (plenty) a week! You must be a very dirty fellow!"

Clearly poor Barnie had never learned the art of cleanliness. He did not know that his body was always becoming dirty, and so filthy person can respect himself, or he would have understood that he was the "dirty fellow," and that his master was the clean one.

"Cleanliness is next to godliness," says the old proverb, and every one who wishes to be healthy and happy must make a weekly bath. Nobody loves dirty children, and no filthy person can respect himself, or he would have understood that he was the "dirty fellow," and that his master was the clean one.

A Good Rule.

A man very rich now, was very poor when he was a boy. When asked how he got his riches he replied:

"My father taught me never to play until my work was finished, and never to spend my money until I had earned it. If I had but one hour's working time, I would do that the first thing, and in an hour, and after that I was allowed to play, and then I could play with a clear conscience, for I had the thought of an unfinished task before my mind. I early formed the habit of doing everything in a business-like way, and became perfectly so to do. It is to this that I owe my prosperity."

On a cold and drizzling day, a merchant passed Lamb in the street with an appealing look and outstretched hand. "I have been better days," said the beggar in a whining tone. "So have I," said Lamb slugging his shoulder and buttoning up his coat. "This is a very bad day indeed."

At a party where questions were asked and facetious if not facetious answers were expected, a coal dealer asked what legal authority was the favorite with his trade. One answered "Coke." "Right," said the coal dealer. Another suggested "Blackstone."

"Good, good," said the questioner. Then a little hard-faced man in the corner piped, "Littleton." Whereupon the coal dealer said down, without saying anything.

PERUVIAN SYRUP.—This valuable medicine has been slowly making its way into public favor by the numerous remarkable cures it has performed. Its singular efficacy in the treatment of the most intractable cases of the system remains unchanged, and it is in this respect the most reliable of all medicines.

Over exertion, either of body or mind, produces debility and disease. The usual remedy is to take some stimulant, the effect of which is the same as giving a tired horse the whip instead of rest. The true way to fortify the system with a permanent tonic is to take the Peruvian Syrup, a tonic of Iron, which gives strength and vigor to the whole system.

TO HICKORY.—The attention of heads of families is respectfully invited to the superior quality of Burnett's Peruvian Syrup. They are entirely free from the poisonous oils and acids which enter into the composition of many of the factitious fruit flavors now in the market. They are highly concentrated, have from which they are prepared, and are less expensive. Made, Scented, and Bottled by Burnett's Extract of Daily Intelligence.

SATURDAY, JUNE 12, 1875.

Town and Vicinity.

THE HOTTEST DAY.—Yesterday was the hottest of the season, the thermometer registering 85° in the shade.

POLICE STATION.—There were no prisoners in the cells last night, the town being very quiet at the present time.

COUNTY COURT.—The business of this court was concluded last night about 5 o'clock, at which hour the court adjourned.

COUNTY COUNCIL.—This body concluded its labors this morning after a session extending over five days. A large amount of important business has been transacted.

TOWN COUNCIL.—A regular meeting of Council will be held on Monday evening, when there will be a month's business to dispose of, no meeting having been held in four weeks.

SALE OF A SCHOONER.—Capt. Cuthbert, of Colborne, has purchased the schooner from Messrs. Rathbun & Son for $7,000. The vessel is of 250 tons register, and is nearly new.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION.—The County Council has granted the sum of $40 to aid the Hastings Rifle Association in fitting up the new range, over which it is expected the annual matches will take place in August.

ELECTION TRIAL.—The trial of the petition against the return of Mr. Wells to the Local Legislature will take place here on Thursday next. Being the first case of the kind ever tried here it will no doubt attract a great deal of interest.

RIFLE MATCH.—The challenge match for the Cup of the 49th will take place on Monday. A close and exciting contest may be expected, as all who will take part in the match are veterans of approved excellence. Should Elsie Tennant again win the cup, it becomes his personal property.

FOR THE LOWER PROVINCES.—Messrs. Ashley & Hazard, manufacturers of Fraser's Gang Cheese-press, have shipped two of their presses to Grand Pré, Nova Scotia, to fill an order from that place. They also do a large business in the same line in the Province of Quebec, where cheese manufacture is attaining to considerable prominence as an industry.

MUCH NEEDED.—If any part of the town requires sprinkling, it is the Market square. Here where hundreds congregate on market days, where butter and honey, and all kinds of produce are exposed, dust should be kept down. An hour's good sprinkling in the early morning and again early in the afternoon, would do the work. Will not the authorities see that this is attended to?

THE VICTORIES.—The "Dr. Betts" mentioned as one of the passengers of the Victoria from Belleville, we presume is Dr. A. H. Betts of Kingston, whom the news says was one of the passengers, and was on his way to England to complete his studies at Birmingham Hospital. On enquiry at the Agent's office here, we found no ticket was issued to passengers by the ill-fated steamer.

RAIN.—A heavy shower of rain, which was of but short duration, however, fell at intervals here this morning. The accompanying thunder was not very heavy, but the lightning was vivid. The rain fall, though not sufficient to supply the needs of the country, will yet have a highly beneficial effect upon growing crops, which, in spite of the late drought, have made good progress.

THE SHAGBARK.—Mr. E. A. McDowell's Company, which was so successful in the "Shagbark" here a short time ago, is to revisit the town, playing in Metropolitan Hall on Friday and Saturday evenings next week. The troupe has been reinforced by the addition of Mr. Frank Munk and Mr. W. F. Devere, both talented actors, and in addition to "The Shagbark," will produce the celebrated drama "Divorce," which had a long run at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, New York.

WANTED.—For two years past a new sidewalk has been promised the residents on the east side of George Street, from Hotel to Meyers Street, and yet nothing has been done to supply it. Why is this? It is in about the worst condition of any sidewalk we know of. The path is rutted and has been done by residents, using whatever boards could be found, and of course is not very substantial. Just now there are some bad spots that require looking after, but the walk should be renewed and made wider.

PULLED APART.—An old wood saw, laden with cords of wood, was literally torn to pieces in Big Bay on Thursday night. It appears that a tug was passing by, and the saw men asked for a friendly haul, which was given. Full steam not being put on the tug, the saw men were for a faster tug, and after a few minutes experience of the greater power given to the tug by crowding on a full head of steam, the saw men pulled apart and fell to pieces. The wood was scattered in all directions, and the men and the saw were home.

LIVELY TIMES.—A number of subpoenas to witnesses in the West Hastings Election case were served to-day. The constable, to do him justice, seemed ashamed of the job.

LAID THE DUST.—The shower last night laid the dust thoroughly, and the plague of dust was abated for one day at least, much to the comfort of the crowds intent on doing justice, seemed ashamed of the job.

NEW CUCUMBERS.—Some of our gardeners, not having any fear of cholera morbus, tempted our citizens with fine specimens of this fruit this morning. Ten and fifteen cents each was the modest price asked.

OCULIST AND ASTRON.—It will be seen by a card in another column that Dr. Stewart, the well known Oculist and Astron, is to visit Belleville next week. Dr. had a large number of patients on his former visit to Belleville, some years ago, and was very successful in his treatment.

EXTRA EXAMINATION.—There were thirty-one boys and girls in town who essayed to pass the necessary examination for admission to the High School. The examination of the papers has not yet been completed. The papers had a very large majority of the applicants will prove successful.

THE REAR STREET MATTER.—We find the following reference to this matter in the Chancery report to-day's Mail: Belleville, June 11.—Chancery, O. C. moved for an injunction to restrain obstruction of street in Belleville. Crooks, Q. C., asked for an injunction. Stella till Tuesday.

DOGS.—The number of dogs registered up to date is 44, which is a very small proportion of the number of dogs in town liable to taxation. On and after Wednesday next, the Police will proceed with the work of destroying unregistered dogs, as provided by the By-law.

BASE BALL.—The game of base ball seems likely to be popular here this season. A practice game was played yesterday afternoon, when the members of the Belleville Club acquitted themselves in good style. In a few weeks, if practice be kept up, the Club will be in good trim for undertaking a match.

POLICE COURT.—No business to-day. An unintentional injustice was done Mr. Geo. Colburn in Wednesday's report; his offence, instead of unmercifully beating a horse, being the causing of the removal of a horse from a place in dispute between Messrs. Colburn and J. Cook, by giving the animal a slight blow to make it move.

CHARGE OF TOLK.—The steamer Utica now leaves Picton at 1 o'clock p. m., daily, instead of 1:30, as previously. This affords passengers an opportunity of taking the evening train for the West at Belleville. The Utica has proved a great convenience to the people of Picton and Trenton, and we are glad to learn it is patronized liberally.

BRETHOEN CLUB.—The number which attended the entertainment given by this organization last night was so small that, after playing three pieces, the audience was dismissed, and the money returned at the door. We have had in town a number of amusements lately, but it is not pleasant to record such a result in the case of so excellent a set of musicians as compose the Brethoens Quintette Club.

THE MARKET.—There was a large attendance on the market this morning, and a bountiful supply in the family market, including assemblage of vegetables of all descriptions. Prices generally were without change, the only alteration to be noted being a decline in oats to 42c per bushel, and in peas to 56c to 60c. We had a letter, dated at St. Louis, 34c per pound, the market for this product being in a rather better condition than it was a week ago.

YACHT CRUISE.—We understand that it is in contemplation to hold, during the month of July, a cruise of all the yachts on the lake around Lake Ontario, in which it is probable that the Danvers and the Isis will take part. The fleet mean to keep together, the faster vessels abiding until for a while.

It is also intended to have a series of regattas during the cruise, one of which would be held here. We trust that the contemplated cruise will take place, and that the people of our local craft as well as those of the lake at large will be able to witness the whole of it. A regatta in which the whole fleet of Ontario would take part would be a fine sight, and it is to be hoped that the people of the town and neighborhood will have an opportunity of witnessing one over the excellent course on Big Bay.

CHEAP EXCURSIONS.—Thinking of going to Niagara Falls and back for the party sum of Four Dollars. A fine ride in the early morning by rail to Toronto, thence across the Lake by the splendid steamer Rothschilds, and enjoying the cooling breeze and delightful ride—then, to pay the money, catch the railway and proceed through some of the most beautiful scenery in Canada, to one of the great wonders of the world, Niagara Falls. All this in one day—the second you can spend in viewing the great cataract and the famed sights around it, and the next return, reaching home at the close of the third day—the trip, except meals and lodging, costing only four dollars. Surely, a cheaper and finer excursion could not be found. Mr. Starling, knowing the wants of the public in this respect, has made arrangements for these weekly excursions, and the number of persons who have succeeded in placing themselves within the reach of all is, it is to be hoped, very large.

THRILLING DESTRUCTION OF LIFE BY AN EARTHQUAKE.—16,000 PERSONS KILLED.
 HAVANA, June 11.—News has been received here by way of St. Thomas of a terrible earthquake which has destroyed the city of New Grenada. The destruction was greatest in the Valley of Cauto, on the Venezuelan frontier. It is reported that 16,000 lives were destroyed by the calamity.

CLEVELAND, O., June 12.—In the pigeon shooting tournament yesterday, the ties of the previous six days were shot off. Mr. Hilliard, of Windsor, Canada, took the prize of $50. The prizes offered for the day were: 1st, $300; 2nd, $250; 3rd, $150; 4th, $100; 5th, $50. There were 128 entries. The first prize was won by H. J. Wilson, of Cleveland, who killed twenty-five birds without a miss. Thirty men having killed nine birds each at 20 yards, they competed for the 2nd prize, which was won by T. Quigley, of Galion, Ohio, who shot 24 birds out of 25. Darkness prevented the shooting of other tie.

HAVANA, June 11.—Advices from St. Thomas, June 8th, report that all is quiet in Haiti since the suppression of the late conspiracy. Small pox is raging with virulence in Ponce, Porto Rico. Vessels from there are quarantined in all West Indian ports. The Spanish mail-boat "Isabella Catalina" conveyed the Uruguayan bark "Pingu" thirty miles from the coast, and allowed her to proceed wherever her commander wished. None of the prisoners on board were permitted to land here. Several steamships for the United States were refused to take them as passengers.

NEW YORK, June 12.—The trotting mare "Admiral Mack," owned by Simon H. Bourne, of Flushing, and valued at $12,000, was found in her pasture yesterday with her leg broken, and she was killed.

Another burglar was discovered last night in a house in the immediate neighborhood of that of Schute, who was shot a few nights ago. The discovery was made by the wife of the occupant, who feared to alarm her husband.

The steamship Colon, from Aspinwall, and C. F. Finch, from Antwerp, have arrived.

A Washington despatch, says the writer, who signs himself "A Christian Association Member," writes to the commissioner of Indian affairs, under date of Philadelphia, June 10th, as follows: "You may not be aware that an expedition leaves this city on Tuesday night, 10th inst., in several special trains, for the Black Hills. They number about three thousand persons, perhaps more, recruited in Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania, all well armed. They leave under the pretence of entering the hills west of the Sioux reservation, which belongs to the United States. This is a lot of cash. They will boldly enter the hills and defy the United States forces, as well as the Indians; this I know to be a fact. Much trouble and costly expense may be the result."

LOCKPORT, N. Y., July 12.—The weather was pleasant yesterday, and the attendance at Driving Park large. Sauter won the running race in 1:18.3. Allison boy won the 3-minute race in 2:39.238. 2nd 2:41.5. St. Patrick won the 2:40 race in 2:42.242. 2:40. The races will be concluded to-day.

WATKINSBURG, June 12.—Probabilities: For the Middle and Eastern States, falling, followed to-night by rising barometer, and warm southerly winds, changing to cooler S.W. and N.W. winds, cloudy weather, occasional rain.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Palma advises bringing details of an earthquake that destroyed seven leagues from Coahuila, May 19th. It says that the earthquake was felt in the city of Coahuila, and that the city was destroyed. In this city a large part of the church fell, several houses were destroyed and some people killed.

The city of Coahuila is entirely destroyed, only a few families being saved. The German drug store was set on fire by a ball of fire which was thrown out of the volcano, which is constantly belching out lava. This volcano opened itself in front of Santiago in a rift called "El Alto De La Girasola." San Juanita was destroyed. Santiago is a large part in Guatemala, and the cities of San Juan, San Carlos, and San Cristobal, are nearly destroyed, principally the last.

The population of these towns is estimated as follows: Santiago, 10,000; San Juan, 2,000; San Carlos, 2,000; San Cristobal, 16,000. The section of country above referred to, embraces the region around about where Columbus landed in Venezuela. It is a low country, and the most productive part of the Republic, and the coffee in this section is famous all the world over.

The city of San Jose De Guacima, the most important of any in that section, was founded by Juan de Marti in 1531. It was a port of call, if an inland town, and was destroyed by an earthquake in 1812. The above particulars are all we have been able to obtain for the time being. It is to be hoped that the population, at the time of the disaster, was about 18,000. It had a large commercial business.

The shock was felt sharply in Bogota and adjoining sections. A gentleman who was at the time in Caracas says that the movement felt, if an inland town, was destroyed by an earthquake in 1812. The above particulars are all we have been able to obtain for the time being. It is to be hoped that the population, at the time of the disaster, was about 18,000. It had a large commercial business.

Commercial.

Ingersoll Cheese Market.

From the Ontario Tribune.
 The attendance of buyers and sellers on Tuesday was very good, but from the declining state of the market in Liverpool, no transactions were very light. The number of boxes offered was 5000 boxes, and 1875 boxes were sold upon the market, as follows: 145 boxes at 25¢, 10 boxes at 26¢, 10 boxes at 27¢, and 1710 at 28¢. We maintain that several factories were offered at the close of the market, and we have no doubt the balance of the offering changes hands during the evening.

Last year, for the corresponding week, 3,000 boxes were offered and 1,000 sold at 14¢ 1/2 per lb., with the sale at 75¢.

Since writing the above, we have learned that about 1,500 boxes were sold at 9¢ 1/2 per lb.

REPORTS.

Of the Finance Committee, that sundry accounts be paid; that an hospital site be purchased; also a dredge, and that a deed of the old hospital lot be secured.

Of the Harbor Committee, that the last of the improving the harbor is by a dredge owned by the town, and that a dredge, and a scow be procured; that Sills' dock be extended on the line of Campbell & Co's, and that Sills have the option of doing the work on condition of a renewal of lease at $100 per annum.

Of the Street Committee, that the tenders of John Burns, for the grading of Albion street, and of John McCoy for Hillside street, be accepted; also the tender of Geo. H. Pope for 200,000 feet of lumber.

Of the Hospital Committee, recommending the purchase of lots 15, 22 and 23, on block B, north of Bridge street, on the west side of the city, as a site for an hospital, at a cost of $1,800.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

The reports were received and Council went into Committee of the Whole. Mr. Sutherland in the chair.

The report of the Finance Committee was adopted.

The report of the Harbor Committee was adopted, the latter clause regarding the wharf being allowed to stand over.

The report of the Street and Hospital Committee was adopted.

Mr. Holden wished the Council on Emily Street, part of which had been done last fall, to be continued.

Mr. Benson said the work would be proceeded with so soon as funds were forthcoming. Committee rose and reported.

On the report being put for adoption, Mr. Foley asked the Chairman of the Hospital Committee why he had changed his mind as to the site of the Hospital. If he remembered right, a report had been passed for the purchase of a site in Baldwin Ward. He should vote against the report unless satisfactory information were given of the locality of the proposed site, quality of soil, and if he wished the matter laid over until next meeting.

From what he knew of the site he did not approve of it, nor did he think it would suit to procure a site within the town. His idea was to get one outside the town, on the bay shore.

Mr. Sutherland said the Committee had visited locations, and Dr. Darland had been induced to change the location, owing to this site containing 25 acres of land, and was so large that it could be used for other purposes. They could get no better site in town, and was in a thinly settled district, and on one of the main arteries of communication. The lot, therefore, of an acre, was to cost $1,800. He wished the matter laid over, as it had been before the Council for years, and they were losing the taxes which would accrue from the hospital lot, at present perfectly useless.

Mr. Harold supported the proposition, believing that if there is anything the town needs it is an hospital. They could not place one in the town, and it was time to act had come.

Mr. Foley opposed the report, believing that the site is not sufficiently elevated. Besides, they did not know whether they would have time to pay for the lots or not, and as the Chairman of Finance had asked them to pay $800 to let them pay for an hospital site.

Mr. J. H. Hamby said the lot would be paid by the present hospital lot. He highly approved of the site as cheap and well adapted.

Mr. Holden wished the matter laid over for further information, the location not seeming to him, from his present knowledge, suitable. Moreover, the price was too high for the lot in that quarter. He knew of had near three being offered for $100 per acre, and the people ought to know that an hospital was to be built there.

Mr. Sutherland said an hospital could not be built outside of the town, and on an open search for land for cemetery, the farmers asked $200 to $300 per acre.

Mr. Holden believed that Mr. Yennan had had a better situation, for sale for $150 per acre.

Dr. Darland said he had wished to purchase property in the neighborhood, and found that it was held at $200 per acre. He had been obliged to yield in the case of the site in Blocker Ward to popular pressure. The present site was well situated as an altitude.

Mr. Foley complained that he had not been notified of the meeting of the Committee, and he moved the reference back of the report to the next meeting.

This was negatived, and the year and year, as taken.

Mr. J. H. Hamby introduced a By-law for the appointment of Pound-keepers and the establishment of Pounds—Read a first time.

The By-law regarding the hospital lot, read a second and third time, and passed.

REGISTRATION.

Mr. J. H. Hamby again drew the attention of the Chairman of the Market Committee to the fact that the agricultural implements were still on the market. They ought to be removed.

Mr. Sutherland saw no objection, if the lot was willing and could collect the money. Mr. Northcott said he would call the Committee together and consider the matter. He had not done so, having been away.

Mr. Benson objected to the implements being there, as they are dangerous in case of a runaway.

In answer to an enquiry by Mr. Foley as to the removal of the implements, Mr. Northcott said the Committee would consider the matter at its next meeting.

The Mayor asked the Council if the logs were being very slowly removed, and it was probable that some of the logs will be stuck in the river unless better laid in sorters.

Mr. Holden said he would notify Mr. Caniff. The transfers of licenses were, as prayed for, granted.

Mr. Simpson came in.

GRAND JURORS.

Council went into committee, Mr. Holden in the chair, to hear a deputation of Directors of the Grand Junction Railway Company.

Mr. Kyles, President of the Grand Junction, was heard, and spoke with reference to the condition of the road, saying that $300,000 of the Belleville loans, part of the money from Ross, Seymour and St. John, had been applied on the purchase of 4,000 tons of iron. When they bought the iron, they thought that Mr. Brooks was in a position to go on, but his money had been compelled to go on the contract. The creditors have threatened to remove the iron, which, if taken away, would compel a partial abandonment of the enterprise.

On the 1st of January the expenditure on the line was $200,000, on which the contractor had received on account $75,000 of the Belleville loans, $3,000 of the Ross, Seymour and St. John, and $21,000 in stock. The iron would be sold to the Northern Extension Railway Company, which is a rival work, and wished to prevent him extending his line to the Georgian Bay. They had conspired to do their duty, and the position in which they stood would be fully shown by the report of Mr. Shandy, which the Clerk would read.

The report was then read.

Mr. Kyles continued that he wished it to go to the people what a large amount of work had been done for a small sum of money. However, they had not been able to complete it, and the vendor of the iron, informed that it had been sold to the Northern Extension, over which they had running powers. The Northern Extension would defeat them, as it could, but it was not clear whether the iron was removed. They had not however, time to enter into this litigation. What they wished was to complete the road to Peterborough, and then the money, and an amalgamation of the two roads, and a certain take place if they could reach that point as the Midland was hostile, but would receive them with open arms if strong enough to reach Oshawa. They could not get without assistance, of which they could not get sufficient without the assistance of the town. Mr. Diamond, their Finance Chairman, could speak for their position, and they could not meet his demands for assistance. He (Brooks) wished them to issue bonds before any iron was laid, and they had given collateral security for the iron, which he had purchased on his own note. Before issuing bonds he (Mr. Diamond) wished to reach some substantial point, when the road would be valuable. They had been deceived as to Mr. Brooks' status as a capitalist. The Town's bonds had been expended on the road, and the stockholders' money had gone into it. They had concluded the contract with Mr. Brooks, and now they wished to get a contractor with $200,000 capital, or credit to build the road. Therefore, he conceived it necessary that the Corporation should know the whole matter. As yet, they were not driven to their last resource, for there was $100,000 profit for any contractor who would come in to build the road. Had Mr. Brooks had the money to finish the road, he would have made a handsome profit; but he had too many iron in the line, having sold the iron at the same time. The Directors had done as much as any could do under the circumstances, having got $300,000 worth of work for about $150,000. They had not one cent of money in a commission, though they had paid many hundred dollars of their own, 30 per cent having been honestly paid by all but a few stockholders. There was no one who would feel regret that they would if their scheme failed. They were not to be blamed if Mr. Brooks turned out to be a financial failure.

Mr. Kyles said that as one of the Directors he had for one courtly inquiry into the affairs of the Corporation. Their present position was due to the failure of the contractor, who came to them with a reputation second to that of none other in Canada, and he had never failed before. His name was Robert, and he had and his securities were of the first description. He had bargained to accept too small a cash payment, which the Company had paid as agreed. From some cause or other, the credit failed, and he failed to carry out his contract. All that could be asked was to let the town that as business men they had honestly done to the best of their ability, and it would be useless to name bonds. There were parties who had money and were prepared to do the work, and they would be glad to complete it. For some time there had been to his mind indications of the failure of the contractor. They must bear in mind that the stock market was not the same as the iron market, and it would be useless to name bonds. Scientific Notes.

At the latest meeting of the Philadelphia Academy of Science, Mr. C. N. Poirer announced that he had found a new microscopic form of animal life in the substance of decayed nerve fibres occurring in spinal tissue, in which they had been communicated with the living nerve, and declared his inability to account for their presence under such circumstances.

A substitute for ink has been devised by Dr. Jacobson, of Berlin, which consists of a mixture of the juice of red radishes (that is, the dried radishes), the white of an egg, and a small quantity of water. It is a violet ink, and when applied to the paper it takes on a blue color, and is as good as the best ink.

Mr. Thomas recently before the Academy of Science in Paris a curious method of inducing magnetism. He carried out a wire having a pressure of about six atmospheres, is sent through a copper pipe which has been wound around an iron cylinder, the iron becomes magnetic, and attracts a needle suspended at a short distance from the cylinder. The magnetism falls when the stream ceases to pass through the copper pipe.

W. R. Frank, of Honolulu, recently presented to the California Academy of Science a specimen of sand from the Islands of Hawaii, which if struck together in the hands, produces a sound like the hoisting of an owl. Sounds can be made with it resembling thunder, which can be heard many miles away. Dr. Jas. Blake says that this sand is composed of small bits of coral, perforated with round cavities, and that the sounds are caused by mutual friction. When wet the sand will not give out sounds.

Professor Schenkel, of Lausanne, placed some eggs of the common frog laid spring in colorless glass vessels, and placed them in green ones. He found that the tadpoles developed much more slowly in the latter, which he ascribed to a deficiency of ozone, which was formed in the colorless glasses, but not in the green. The tadpoles, however, may be considered in connection with the remarkable experiments lately exhibited before the Royal Society by Dr. Crookes, in which light rays of the dark side of path balls suspended in a vacuum, which action is weakened when green or blue glass is interposed.

A curious piece of mechanism, known as the "electric hand," has recently been exhibited in Philadelphia. The paper describes it as containing the music to be played are drawn underneath a row of "feet" charged with electricity. The paper describes it as a non-conductor, and the musical character being printed with a metallic surface, a current is carried along the "feet" to the performing part of the machine, which consists of drums, cymbals, flutes, hautboys, etc., with an organ accompaniment, and the sounds produced are in accordance with the written score. The invention is said to be a very ingenious one, and the work of two young Philadelphians, who have devoted four consecutive years to its perfection. It will be exhibited at the Centennial World's Fair next summer.

At a recent meeting of the British Society of Antiquaries, Mr. Bennett, Canterbury, read a paper on "Paganism found at Canterbury, the Kingdom at Evesham, and Recluse." Canterbury contained four Roman emperors, in one of which illumination was practiced, while cremation was more common at the others. Several fine specimens of illuminated MSS. were found at these places, besides other objects of interest. The most remarkable object exhibited by Mr. Bennett was a bracelet of most elegant form, the handle of which terminated at the top of two swan heads, and at the bottom it is human feet. The bracelet of a race cup were also discovered, and a small cup with one now in the British Museum. Some fine implements found at Recluse are of a specially high type.

Mr. Thomas Gaffield delivered a lecture recently before the Boston Art Club, his subject being "The Sun as a Painter." When the glassmaker, he said, tried to reach the highest perfection in his business he imitated Nature's own crystal, and the best of glass was called in consequence crystal glass. The lecturer explained a series of experiments, which showed the fact that the sun changed the glass, not only on the surface, but throughout. Out of fifty-five pieces of different glass, he pointed to the sun, nine pieces changed in one day and all changed within six months. His experiments covered twelve years, and with all kinds of glass. All that changed, changed either to a yellow or greenish color; then from yellow to brown, and then to purple, which colors could be seen in the windows of Beacon Street houses. From green the change was to blue. In making the glass the "latch" was not always mixed evenly, and hence the color of the glass changed. He also found that the Beacon Street purple glass could be restored to its original yellow-white by the heat of the glass maker's kiln. After the restoration he found that exposure to the sun again gave the same effect, and the purple tinge came back, deeper as the sun went on. So he found that each month produced its change of shade. By painting or lettering on the glass, and then exposing it to the sun, patterns could be indelibly placed on the glass, and on a darker ground. He had also experimented on optical glass and found no change. He had expressed the idea that perhaps the sun's rays which changed the glass had lost their power in the direction, and found that the sun's rays would penetrate a thick plate glass and color glass placed beneath.

What a Child Saw.

Yesterday morning some people living on Macomb street entered a house to find father and mother beastly drunk on the floor.

floor, and their child, a boy four years old, was dead in his cradle. The parents looked like beasts—the child wore the sweetest, tenderest smile on its white face that any of them ever saw. It had been ill for five days, and its brief life had been full of bitter woe, but yet the women cried as they

When the sun went down and the evening shadows danced across the floor and seemed to grasp at him, the boy grew afraid and cried out. The shadows came faster, as they raced around the room and scowled darkly at the lone child he nestled

"It's dark, mother—it's dark!" neighbors heard him wail; but no

went in to comfort him and to drive shadows away. The night grew older—feet of pedestrians ceased to echo, and heavy breathing of the drunkards made child tremble and draw the cover closer. His little bare feet were curled and he shut his eyes tightly to keep

By and by the ragged blanket was gently pulled away, and the child opened his eyes and saw a light in the room.

"Is it morning!" he whispered, but drunkards on the floor slept on.

“Mother! mother! hear the music!” he cried, and from out the soft, white curtains

"I am thy mother," she softly said.

The music grew yet softer, and the melody was so sad and tender and yet so full of love and rejoicing that the drunken crowd on the floor moved a little and muttered broken words.

Other angels came, and the light upon the boy's face in a blazing show turning his hair to threads of gold. He held up his arms and laughed for joy.

"Heaven wants you," the angel whispered. "Earth has no more sorrow—no further misery. Come!"

And he floated away with them, leaving the sleepers lying as if dead. The golden light faded out, the music died away, the old house was again filled with grim and threatening shadows, which surrounded the sleepers and touched their bloated features with their gaunt skeletons.

They knew not that he had seen angels, and that they had borne him heaven's gate.—Detroit Free Press.

Shakespeare's Love of Music

In the works of man, no less than in works of God, he took deep delight—"cloud-capped towers," the "gorgeous acies," the "solemn temples." Of the Arts he was an honest votary. Music in

His eloquent denunciation of those who "not moved with concord of sweet sounds," written in a thousand hearts. To his ear, music was "the food of love"; he claims for the distinction of having been "ordained to refresh the mind of man." In that most exquisite scene at Belmont, in the fifth

the Merchant of Venice," music intense
the happiness of the youthful lovers—
"How sweet the moonlight sleeps upon this b
Here will we sit, and let the sounds of music
Creep in our ears; soft stillness and the nig Become the touches of sweet harmony."
And Jessica only deepens into tender

"That strain again—it had a dying fall;
O, that some piper ever like the sweet south

That breathes upon a bank of violets, Stealing and giving odor."

And again—

"That old and antique song we heard last night
Methought it did relieve my passion much,
More than light airs and recollected tunes
Of these most brisk and giddy-paced times."

Such examples could be largely multiplied, but take as the only other the lines put in the mouth of Oberon—
 "My gentle Puck, come hither: thou remember'st
 Since once I sat upon a promontory,
 And heard a mermaid, upon a dolphin's back,
 Uttering such dulcet and harmonious breath

That the rude sea-gull grew civil at her song ;
And certain stars shot madly from their spheres
To hear the sea-maid's music."

Not contented with thus celebrating the charms of music, Shakespeare gave to be written to it some of the most delicious of English songs.—From Collins' Shakespeare.

THE INTERPOSITION OF PROVIDENCE.
It is not great battles alone that build the world's history, nor great poems alone that make the generations grow. There is still small rain from Heaven that has more to do with the blessedness of nature, and

Two Irishmen, on a certain occasion, occupied the same chamber. In the morning one of them inquired of the other, "Did you hear the thunder in the night?"

"No, Pat; did it really thunder?" "Ye it thundered as if hiven and earth would come together." "Why the deuce, then, didn't ye wake me, for ye know I can sleep when it thunders!"

An American contractor heard with disgust that cities in China have streets paved with granite blocks which were laid over three hundred years ago, and are as good as new. "There's one good thing about it though," he said, brightening up: "the fellow that laid them pavements are dead, I reckon anyhow."

Town and Vicinity.

POLICE COURT.—No cases were tried this morning, one Cow Byrnes being laid over till Monday.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.—We are requested to state that the Rev. Professor Gregg will (D.V.) preach in St. Andrew's Church to-morrow morning.

NEW PEAS.—Mr. Donald McLaren, of Sidney, will accept our thanks for a mess of green peas, the first we have noticed on the market this season.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.—A special meeting of the Board of Education will be held on Tuesday evening, to which date the Board adjourned at the close of its last session.

THE MARKET.—The attendance was not so large as that of last Saturday, and prices were without notable change. Wool is steady as quoted, with the usual reduction for cotton and unwashed fleeces.

ELECTION TRIAL.—The trial was the only one of the Toronto election cases to be reported present at the West Hastings election trial. Where was the boasted enterprise of the Globe and its younger brother the Liberal, of which so much has been said?

A DEAFENING.—This audience who assembled in Metropolitan Hall last night to witness the presentation of the "Shanghai" were disappointed of the expected dramatic treat, as none of the scenes had been, by mistake, forwarded to Ottawa, rendering playing of the piece altogether impracticable. "Divorce" was substituted, and received a very clever representation. This drama will be repeated to-night.

THE COLLEGE.—The closing exercises of the College begin with a baccalaureate service on Sunday morning next in the M. E. Church by Rev. Dr. Davidson. On Monday evening, Henry Taylor, LL.D., will lecture before the Alumni in the College Chapel. On Tuesday evening, the Ladies' Exhibition and distribution of prizes will take place in the College Chapel. On Wednesday, the Annual Convocation of the University will be held in the Town Hall at 2 p.m. Tickets for the Convocation may be had on application to any of the College authorities.

ALBERT COLLEGE.—A correspondent of the Christian Advocate makes the following appropriate suggestions: "Would it be well to commemorate the grand old Bishop with a 'Bishop Richardson scholarship'?" The idea commends itself to my mind as being eminently proper, and we must do it in a manner worthy of the man and of ourselves. Of course, the Secretary of the "Alexandra College Prize Fund" will be round to take up subscriptions for a commemorative prize, and no college fund is better sustained than this one.

MISCELLANEOUS.—Many a runaway has been caused by the carelessness of the shop boys in throwing paper on the street when sweeping out in the mornings, which paper, blown about by the wind, frightens horses and causes them to run away, causing damage to life and limb. Yesterday a horse was very much frightened in this manner, and, but for the strength of a skillful driver, would have "bolted." The practice is a thoughtless one, and we are sure needs to be mentioned once more to cause its cessation. In the morning, employers might aid in bringing about by giving a word of warning to their employees.

EXCURSIONS.—Family excursion tickets, good for the season on all regular trips between Belleville and Ferry Point, are now issued by the proprietor of the Ferry steamer Prince Edward. They can be procured at the store of J. C. Overall or at the boat, at the rate of $3.00 for the season. To those who can occasionally spend a few hours on the water, thus escaping the heat of the town during the "hot term," this arrangement will afford an excellent opportunity of doing so, and the price of tickets has been placed at so low a rate as to be a mere trifle in comparison with the value returned in health and pleasure.

BASE BALL.—The following item concerning the tournament to take place at Belleville will be read with interest by those of our readers who take an interest in the game of base ball. The item is culled from an Ottawa paper. The base ball tournament to be held at Belleville, beginning June 29th, is to be a success. The association held a meeting on Monday night, at which favorable reports were received from all quarters. The indentments that have been offered to clubs in the State are of a strong nature as to guarantee a good representation of select players. $1,050, divided for the first $500 in the first round, $450 in the second, $250 to third. In addition to these magnificent prizes, $100 is offered as a prize for second class clubs. A number of clubs have already entered in both

Canadian Cheese Market.

At the Fulton, N. Y., Cheese Market on the

The Wedding Fee.

By R. M. STEWART.

One morning, fifty years ago,
When apple trees were white with snow
Of fragrant blossoms, and the birds
Were full-bound with the perfume rare,
Up a fern-brook, large and deep,
A young man and a young woman came,
And lay with the leaves and flowers
Fighting along the winding stream.

Blue were the arches of the sky;
But blue were the arches of the sky;
That day the young man and woman came,
And lay with the leaves and flowers
Fighting along the winding stream.

It was the fairest sight I ever Saw with my eyes, and I have seen
The happy fellow told her so,
And she without the least surprise
Looked on him with those heavenly eyes,
Saw underneath that shade of tan
The handsome features of a man,
And with a joy but rarely known
She drew that dear face to her own,
And by her lips he kissed her cheek,
I cannot tell you what she did!

So, on their life until among
The new home, arrived in white,
The marriage, arrived in white,
Then, with a cloud upon his face,
"What shall I do?" he said to her,
"Should I refuse to take you away,
From what is the pillow case,
And gazing down his eyes surveyed
The pillow case before him laid,
Which contents reaching to his heart
Might purchase endless joy for them.

The maiden answered, "Let us wait
To know trouble where the road lies,
Then, at the person's wedding, I will Halt the most when willing stand."

Down from the horse the bridegroom sprang;
The ladies gave him the hand,
The knocker that started down,
Brook as it never was,
Brought the whole household, pale with fright;
All there, with the least surprise,
So beautiful he could hardly say,
The farmer said their wedding night.

The groom goes in, his usual rest,
And at the person's wedding, I will Far over the window sill and yell,
"Come in the says he to the bride!"

Lord! how she jumped! With one glad bound
She and the bride reached the ground,
Then, clapping with each dimpled arm,
The precious product of the loom,
She leans it through the open door,
And down upon the parlor floor,
Dumps the best linen vases ever bore.

Al! happy were their songs that day
When man and wife their love away,
But happier than those woodland scenes:
"God bless the priest of Whitby!"
God bless the man who took the bride!"

A caring old woman said once to her

Do ye intend to say I'm a fool?" "No,"
said he, "but ye broke in her pastor, 'ye

LIFE OF OAT STEWART.

Clearfoot O. P., would like to know how to apply lime to oat stubble, which is ploughed for wheat, and the proper quantity.
Lime must be kept near the surface, therefore it must not be ploughed in. When the last ploughing is finished, spread the lime on the ploughed ground and harrow it in. Fifty bushels per acre is the usual quantity. It must be properly sowed, so that it is in a fine state of division, or its full value will be secured. To check it, put it in small holes in the field where it is to be used, and two showers of rain will do the business.

BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS.

The superiority of these extracts—The purest purity and great strength. They are warranted free from the poisonous oils and fats which enter into the composition of many of the factitious fruit flavors now in the market. They are not only true to the names, but are prepared from the best fruit quality, and are so highly concentrated that a comparatively small quantity only need
be used.

more than "that bottle." "I do not wonder at that at all," replied a minister; "and for, we have seen no more than that bottle
all the afternoon."
A caring old woman said once to her
pau: "Dear me, ministers are so foolish also about their hard work; but what's two hobs o' mornins in the week to make up! I could do my work!" "Well, Janet,"
said the minister, good humoredly, "let's hear you try it." "Oh, I can't do it,"
then, quoth she. He repeated with enthusiasm, "It is better to dwell in the corner of the house-put with a hawling woman and in a wide house." Janet fired
up instantly. "What's that say, sir!
Do ye intend to say I'm a fool?" "No,"
said he, "but ye broke in her pastor, 'ye never do for a minister.' And what for no?" said she. "Because Janet, you come over soon to the application."

BOARD OF EDUCATION.—An adjourned

meeting of the Board, for the transaction

of general business, will be held this evening.

DEPORTATIONS.—On Sunday, a special train passed west, carrying a large number of immigrants, among whom were several carloads of Memphians, who are bound for Manitoba.

TO ADVERTISERS.—Advertisers who have contracts are informed that new advertisements must be in the hands of the printer by ten o'clock in the morning, in order to secure publication.

COLLEGE.—The distribution of prizes

will take place in Alexandra College tonight to-morrow the annual Commemoration will take place in the Town Hall at 2 o'clock p. m. Hon. R. J. Cartwright and other notabilities have been invited to be present. The alumni dinner will take place in the evening at 8 o'clock.

THE MAILMAN CASE.—Deputy Sheriff

Thompson this morning received notice from the Government that the sentence of death

passed against Charles Mainard has been commuted to imprisonment for life in the Kingston Penitentiary. The prisoner will be taken to his new home within a few

GORE TO KINGSTON.—The Kingston

News states that the Quinte Hook and

Ladder Company, of this town, will go to

Kingston on Dominion Day, they having accepted an invitation extended to them

by a Kingston company to pass the day with them. There is a strong fraternal

feeling between the Belleville and Kingston companies, which it is to be hoped may never grow less.

MARCHMONT HOME.—A party of boys

expected to arrive from the city to-day

the latter end of this week, say 12 to 15.

A large wooden building is being put up on the Marchmont grounds for the accommodation of the children during the summer, and the work goes on as usual. All applications, accompanied by reference, to be sent to Miss Rillbrook, Marchmont

House, Belleville.

STRAINS "PIRONS." We learn from the St. Catharines Times that the steamer Pir-

ons is doing a good business between Port

Dulwich and Toronto. In announcing this fact, the same paper takes occasion to commend the courtesy of Captain Morden

and his purser. It is some satisfaction to know that good a boat is plying regularly in so dull a season as this has been so far.

BOATING.—The favorite amusement of the day is boating, both sailing and rowing. Each evening the bay is dotted with crafts of all dimensions, from the racing

sloop down to the tiny shallop, and an immense hark barge is seen skimming the surface. The "city-fishing" fraternity

the amusement is a beautiful and pleasant

one, and we are glad to see it in so much favor with the public. A better spot for rowing and sailing than Belleville, is not

Wm. J. Brown, the notorious counterfeiter

from Cincinnati, pleaded guilty in the Court

yesterday, and was remanded for sentence.

Merrill, June 22.—Brak. Yarrowburgh,

Justice of the Peace, residing near Livingston,

Tenn., was killed on Saturday by W. Kinney,

his brother-in-law, in a quarrel growing out of an old family feud. Kinney surrendered himself to the Sheriff. Both were wealthy and influential citizens, and the homicide

causes great excitement in the neighborhood.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. June 22.—It is understood

NEW YORK, June 22.—John Morrison appeared before the Tannery committee on discipline last night, to answer a charge of disobedience to Tammany while at Albany last winter. He said he was in harmony with Tammany but was opposed to its management.

His business in Albany last winter, he said,

was not to make combinations with the Republican Committee. He said he might as well make up a report for his expenses as was not going to resign willingly. He was willing to stand up in the general committee of 600 and answer for any act of his during the last three years.

The committee, which has of late been manifesting itself against Tammany, is grad-

PARIS, June 22.—The Republique Francaise

newspaper announces that it will contribute

1,000 francs to a fund for the purpose of sending delegates to the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition.

THE QUESTION SETTLER.—Queen Elizabeth

and Dr. Hughes Bennett, say that contemplation can be cured. Dr. Hughes

states that he discovered his new remedy

when he was in the hospital for the treatment of the venereal disease. He says that he has cured many cases of the disease, and that he is now preparing a book on the subject, which he will publish in the near future.

Town and Vicinity.

PLEASANT.—There is some pleasure in travelling through the country in the morning, the rain having effectively stopped the dust nuisance for the time being. This is a relief which is sensibly felt by all.

BASE BALL.—A match was played at Pictou yesterday between the Silver Star Club, of Pictou, and the Albert College Club, of this town. The Belleville players won on a score of 62 to 7, only six innings having been played.

COLLECTION OF MISERABLE.—A very fine reputation of the animal products of North Hastings is now being made at the office of the Belleville and North Hastings Railway Company. The collection will be sent to Philadelphia for exhibition at the Centennial Exposition, and we venture to say it will do credit to the Province at large and this section in particular.

THE YOUNG HOUSE.—Clifford will do well to heart in mind that horses led on the street should be tied up. An animal belonging to a well known citizen was to-day taken away by the police, and others should profit by the experience. This statement of fact from a London paper affords to Police a good idea of what their duty should be under like circumstances.

FEELS.—There is a perfect peace of mind at the present time. Last night, the windows in the Police Station were left open, with the gas burning, and this morning the floor of the place was covered with ice, thousands of which had adhered, attracted by the light. Every street lamp seems to be a beacon of attraction for insects, and each morning the sidewalks in their vicinity are covered with dead and dying flies.

RELIEVING THE EMBARRASSMENT.—The Montreal Star of last evening says: "We understand that the Dominion Government have decided to withdraw their balance in London, Eng., to the extent of $5,000,000, instead of calling on the banks here for a portion of their deposits, which would undoubtedly increase the stringency in monetary affairs here. It is stated, on good authority, that the Government propose placing a certain amount of the sum, withdrawn from England, on the market here, with a view of creating an easier feeling and relieving the embarrassment which at present is so severely felt."

THE RAIN.—The long spell of drought has at length been broken by the coming yesterday of several fine showers of rain.

From early morning the clouds had been gathering, with the wind steady at southwest, and the descent of the hoped-for showers was eagerly looked for. It was not until the day had worn well on towards evening that the expected rain fell, and then it came in several heavy showers, which were quickly drunk up by the parched and thirsty earth as it fell. An almost instantaneous improvement in the appearance of vegetation was noticeable, and this morning gardens in town look fifty per cent better than yesterday. The area over which the rain fell did not seem to be large, the north seeming to get very little, and to the south the showers were more heavy and frequent. For what has come there is much reason to be thankful, but more rain is needed.

LIQUORS IN CASKS.—The circular which has just been issued from the Inland Revenue Department, calls the attention of officials to the provisions of the Act, 36 Vic., chap. 37, which comes into effect on the first of July. After that date all duties and computations of duty on liquors will be levied and made by gallon, defined in the Act as containing ten pounds of distilled water, at a temperature of 62 degrees Fahrenheit. In order to give effect to this provision of the law, it will be necessary to have all distillers' brewers, and sub-tenants' vessels re-measured, substituting standard gallons for wine gallons. State explains how the capacity of the cask is to be verified. In all documents emanating from the Department in relation to regulation or transaction subsequent to the first of July, the word gallon is to be understood as meaning the standard gallon containing ten pounds of standard water.

IMPORTANT TO BATHERS.—Some philanthropist—no doubt an M.D., judging from last sentence quoted—publishes the following hints to bathers: "Avoid bathing within two hours after a meal, or after bathing when exhausted by fatigue or from any other cause. Avoid bathing when the body is warm, provided no time is lost in waiting for the water to be cooled to the proper temperature. Avoid bathing when the body is sitting or standing near the water, or in boats after having been in the water. Avoid remaining too long in the water—leave the water instantly if there is the slightest feeling of chilliness. Avoid bathing altogether in the open air, if, after having been a short time in the water there is a sense of chilliness with numbness in the hands and feet. The vigorous and strong may bathe early in the morning on an empty stomach. The young and those who are weak had better bathe three hours after a meal, the best time for such is from two to three hours after breakfast. Those who are subject to indigestion or flatulency, and those who suffer from palpitation and other cardiac diseases, should bathe at least half an hour before their medical adviser." We doubt those warnings will not receive much attention, as it is fully regarded only about one person in five hundred would be able to enjoy the luxury of an open air bath, though the hints may be well meant and some of them are doubtless valuable.

ALEXANDER COLLEGE.—The Trinity exhibition took place last night in the College Chapel, when an interesting programme was gone through with. The ladies who read these for degrees, and were admitted to the degree of M. A., were Miss L. Smith and Miss A. Ashton. The following ladies received prizes: Miss Dolan, Miss Davis, Miss Morris, Miss Ash and Bartholomew. Honor certificates were given to Miss Ashton, Sills, Avery, Bartholomew, Rowe, Ward, Greenleaf, E. Rowe, Dawson, VanAllen and Macdonald. Miss C. L. Tullie received a diploma in music.

KINGSTON CAMP.

By Telegraph.
 Kingston, June 22.—There was some trouble in the camp last evening, owing to some men being under the influence of liquor. One man drew a bayonet on another and inflicted a wound in the head.
 Mr. Barker, Post Office Inspector, has made arrangements for opening a branch of the post office at the camp. The mails will go out twice a day. This will be a great convenience, the camp being upwards of four miles from the city.
 Brigade orders have been issued, making arrangements for the management of the camp. Revels will be held at 8 a.m., first post at 9 p.m., and 2 p.m.; lights are to be extinguished in men's tents at 9:45; tent walls are to be rolled up at 6 a.m. in fine weather; rations and forage will be issued by regiments by the supply officer at 6 a.m., and ration returns will be sent to the supply officer not later than 9 a.m.; breakfast at 7:30, dinner at 1, and supper at 5:30. There will be three brigades, the main guard at the entrance gate, consisting of one sergeant, one corporal, and nine men; a corporal's guard and three men at the rifle shooting ground entrance, and a corporal and three men at headquarters.
 The camp police will consist of one corporal and four privates from the 12th Battalion, four privates from the 47th, four privates from the 48th, one private from each troop of cavalry, and one non-commissioned man from the battery of artillery; these men will parade at guard mounting at 10 o'clock a.m.; their duties will be to protect the boundaries of the camp, as well as preserve order, and to prevent any wood from being taken or cut.

"Don't Give Up; But Try."

A gentleman, travelling in the northern part of Ireland, heard the voice of a child and stopped to listen.

Finding the sound came from a small building used as a school-house, he drew near; as the door was open, he went in and listened to the words the boys were speaking.

One little fellow stood apart, looking very sad.

"Why does that boy stand there?" asked the gentleman.

"Oh, he is good for nothing," replied the teacher. "There's nothing in him. I can make nothing of him. He is the most stupid boy in the school."

The gentleman was surprised at this answer. He saw that the teacher was so stern and rough, that the younger and more timid were nearly crushed. After a few words to them, placing his hands on the noble brow of the little fellow who stood apart, he said:

"One of these days you may be a fine scholar; don't give up; try, my boy, try."

The boy's soul was awoken. His sleeping mind awoke. A new purpose was formed. From that hour he became anxious to excel. And he did become a fine scholar, and the teacher of a well-known commentary on the Bible; a great and good man, beloved and honored.

It was Dr. Adam Clarke.

The Grasshopper Crop.

In Minnesota they are paying one dollar and sixty cents a bushel for grasshoppers after they are caught and killed, of course. Little boys and girls get ten cents a quart; two boys made six dollars a day on grasshoppers, and nine other dollars for grasshoppers. The Minnesota State has paid already over fifteen thousand dollars for the extermination of this pest. An ingenious Minnesotan has contrived a trap, run by horse power, which catches from twenty bushels a day and the owner of a well-known commentary on the Bible; a great and good man, beloved and honored.

It was Dr. Adam Clarke.

Sad Affair.

A young woman named Elizabeth George, whose home is near Lambeth, met with an accident on Friday last which it is feared will result in her losing her eyesight. One of her brothers, it appears, was drinking, and had procured a bottle of liquid ammonia to administer. He asked for a bottle, and Elizabeth and a young man, playing just as usual in an instant, one reached it just as soon as the other, and between the two in the struggle the bottle was broken and the liquid ammonia was poured into the eyes of the unfortunate woman. Elizabeth secured it, however, and when she placed it to her nose when the crowd drew out, and the ammonia filled her eyes. Dr. Best attended her, and she is now blind. Her eyes were looked upon as being shut, and no trace of the balls can be seen. Much sympathy is felt for the unfortunate woman, who is suffering intense agony.

Progress.

For several years past a considerable portion of the composition on the London Times has been done by means of typesetting machines. The latest innovation proposed by the proprietor is to distribute this typesetting work among the cities and towns where the paper has a large circulation, instead of, as now, having the whole edition printed in London. He has discovered a method by which, through the agency of electric wires extending from the central office to the various cities, the type, on touching the proper keys of the setting machine in London, will be dropped into their appropriate places at the other extremities of the wires, and thus the paper simultaneously composed, by the act of one man in each city, the wires extend. It is said that his experiments have been so successful, and that he has the greatest confidence in the practicability of the scheme, which will amount to a revolution in practical typographical science.

Green Eyed.

A well known actor who lately brought a handsome bride to Montreal, has since his residence, been so tormented by jealousy as to abuse his wife in the most disgraceful manner. He has even gone so far as to insult her on Wednesday in the public streets, slashed her eyes, raised blows of people to combat. She has left him three times in not so many months. However, returned home last night, her love for him overcame the terror which she felt at his previous ill-treatment.

Save Your Hair.—When the blood is well supplied with its elements, we feel vigorous and full of animation. It is an indication of this that the hair grows as fast, weak and low-spirited, in such cases the Proton (a proteid of iron) can supply this deficiency and its use will invigorate us wonderfully.

Every one who takes DR. WHEATLEY'S Compound Elixir of Proton, and who observes how constantly and quickly enlargement of the appetite and facility of digestion result from its use. Such is the uniform effect of this preparation, which explains why it is so successful in curing the feeble constitution, and augmenting the vital powers. By securing the perfect assimilation of food, and forming a pure blood, the nutrition of the organs and tissues is maintained, the system is invigorated, the waste resulting from mental and physical exertion supplied, and all the functions of the body are in a vigorous condition. The action of the Elixir is to aid nature permanently, and it is incapable of exerting any law by over-stimulating or depressing the organism.

Mr. Tennyson's charge for "a little poem for a magazine" is $300.

Subscriptions for the memorial to Lord

Byron in England are coming in rapidly.

A large sum is expected to be raised.

Rosa was so plentiful in France that the railway companies decorate the walls of the stations with them arranged on trellis frames.

Some Englishmen recently tried to purchase

Arabian horses in Constantinople.

But were not within acquire of the Turkish prices.

Emperor William has had granted in Frederick the Great, and has given a copy to

M. Thiers.

The Bishop of Manchester has solemnly declared the novels of Miss Bradshaw and

the Miss De La Pours (calling herself Ouida)

to be not only unwholesome, but sinful.

Enigration returns at Liverpool continue to show a decrease. During the month of May the emigration amounted to 8,915 below

the returns for the corresponding month last year.

A portrait of Handel, by Sir James

Thornhill, from the collection of the late

John Lodge Elliott, has been presented to the Fitzwilliam Museum, at Cambridge, England.

The fifteen Sikhs of the twenty-eight

Panjab Infantry, who so gallantly withstood more than five hundred Chukkas in Burmah lately, are to receive rewards for their good conduct.

Mr. Swinburne's critical writings, from the Port Folio, Boston, have been collected and

under the title of "The Poet's Poet."

They are marked by equal grace of style and boldness of opinion.

The memoirs of Chancellor Pasquier, who died in 1862 at the age of ninety-five promises to be highly interesting. He held office under all the French Governments, and was acquainted with all the men of his time.

The London Tavern was offered for sale

the other day, but was bought in, after a lively competition, for $24,000, to which sum the building had advanced from $20,000.

Ten years ago the property changed

proprietors for $24,000.

Chester suggests for the new law on the press a clause which would require

every newspaper to publish false news

shall lead a duck (cannot be the story for a month. They publish this as a joke—

illustrated by the name.

"Eosin" is the name given to a new coloring matter recently introduced into commerce. It is first produced by Caro

at the Hagen Aulins Works, and named

by him on account of its beautiful color,

eosin, the red of the morning dawn.

A lottery has been established at Vienna

for the purpose of raising funds for the erection of a monument to Schiller. A committee of ladies has been formed for carrying out the scheme, with the Princess

Helene as their President.

The statue of Minerva, which was to be placed in the Salle des Pas Perdus of the Palais de Justice at Aix, will be erected in a gallery of the museum of the city, according to the original plan, when that statue was offered to Aix by the imperial government.

The Earl of Albemarle has in preparation

a volume to be entitled "Fifty Years of My Life," which it is said, will contain

many new facts, social and political, about the chief persons and events of the early part of the present century, including an account, founded on his own experience,

of the battle of Waterloo.

Ten years ago the Bishop of London

established a fund, and named it as the Bishop of London's fund, for the purpose of building churches and schools in his diocese. The sum which he appropriated amounted to now $2,000,000, and 113 new churches as well as 100 new schools have been built with it, besides the addition of 220 clergy to the diocese. Thus the spiritual wants of about half a million of people have been provided for.

There is the Broom. When the blood is well supplied with its iron element, it is vigorous and full of animation. It is an inefficiency of this vital element, which makes the blood weak and low-spirited; in such cases the Peruvian Syrup (a proteolytic iron)

can supply this deficiency, and it will invigorate

as wonderfully.

BERRY'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS.—The

superiority of these extracts, made in their perfect purity and great strength. They are warranted free from the adulteration of acids which enter into the composition of

many of the factitious fruit flavors now in the market. They are not only true to their names, but are prepared from fruits of the best quality, and are so true to the original flavor that a comparatively small quantity will

be used.

SAVE YOUR HAIR.—If you wish to save

your hair and keep it in a strong, healthy condition, use Berry's Cocoa. It will stimulate the roots of the hair, and induce

the natural action upon its growth dependent. Twenty years ago a single bottle saved

a lady's hair in a desperate case, in which all other treatment had failed; and since that early success thousands of cases, in which all

Dandruff, Loss of Hair and Irritation of the Scalp have yielded to the same remedy.

EVERY ONE WHO TAKES DR. WHITE'S

WATERBURY Compound Elix. of Phosphates

and Cod-liver Oil, remarks how constantly and quickly exertion of the appetite and facility of digestion result from its use. Such is the uniform effect of this medicine, which explains why it is so extraordinary in restoring

the feeble constitution, and augmenting

the vital powers. By such means, the perfect

assimilation of food and formation of pure

blood, the nutrition of the system, the vigor

is maintained, the gaseous matter is disposed, the waste resulting from mental and physical exertion supplied, the system is restored, the action of the organs is permanently, and it is incapable of de-
